D. Jerome Elwell

1847-1912

Mr. Elwell was born in Gloucester in 1847, and died in Naples in 1912. He started the study of Art while young, and when twenty-five years of age went to Antwerp to continue his studies. During this period he painted two of his best known works, a "View of Antwerp," and the "Dunes of Domberg." He returned to exhibit his work, and later went to Venice, where he remained several years. Ten years ago Mr. Elwell returned to America and set up a studio at Magnolia, and afterwards at East Gloucester. Many of his paintings are owned in this city, and many are at the Sawyer Free Library in Gloucester.
